

Proposed Language Amendments to the July 22 Draft
Outcome Document for the World Summit, 14-16 September 2005

25 July 2005

*Prepared by the Center for Women's Global Leadership (CWGL), Development Alternatives with Women for a New Era (DAWN),
United Methodist United Nations Office
Women's Environment and Development Organization (WEDO) and Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF)*

Women's organizations and networks welcome the improvements brought to the revised version of the Draft Outcome Document dated July 22 (A/59/HLPM/CRP.1/Rev.1), to reaffirm the critical importance of gender equality, women's empowerment and the promotion and protection of the human rights of women in achieving sustainable development and peace. However, there are still elements crucial to women that have been left out of the July 22 Document.

In accordance with previously-made governmental commitments, we urge governments to ensure that national statements and the final Outcome Document integrate a gender perspective and incorporate calls for the full participation of women in the implementation of commitments to development, peace, human rights and UN governance :

*The General Assembly,
Emphasizes that the full and effective implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action and the promotion of gender equality and of women's empowerment and participation, together with the mainstreaming of a gender perspective, are among the essential elements for advancing the implementation of the United Nations Millennium Declaration, with a view, in particular, to achieving the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration and the outcomes of United Nations summits, conferences and special sessions;
(A/RES/59/168, para 19)*

Proposed Language Amendments on the Draft Outcome Document for the World Summit, 14-16 September 2005

II. Development

Quick Wins

25. We agree to support the establishment and implementation of country led sustainable "quick win" initiatives consistent with long-term national sustainable development strategies so as to realize major immediate progress towards the development goals, including the Millennium Development Goals through such measures as the free distribution of malaria bed nets and effective anti-malaria medicines, the expansion of home-grown school meals programmes using locally produced foods and the elimination of user fees for primary education and health services, universal access to sexual and reproductive health information and services, expanded use of effective drug combinations for HIV/AIDS, national campaigns to stop violence against women, and the collection and disaggregation of data by sex.

(Millennium Project Overview Report, p. 26).

Employment

32. We [~~delete~~ : strongly support a fair globalization and] resolve to make the goal of productive employment and decent work for all, including for young people, a central objective of our national and international macro-economic policies as well as poverty reduction strategies. These measures should also encompass the elimination of child labor, and labour protections as agreed in the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights to Work. We resolve to protect the human rights of workers.

HIV/AIDS and other health issues

34 (1) Ensure that the resources needed for prevention, treatment, care and support, the elimination of stigma and discrimination, as well as enhanced access to affordable medicines, reduced vulnerability of affected persons in particular women, girls and orphan children, and an expanded and comprehensive response to HIV/AIDS, and for full funding of the Global Fund to fight AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria, as well as UN system agencies and programmes engaged in the fight against HIV/AIDS, are provided universally by 2010

Gender equality and empowerment of women

35. We reaffirm that the full and effective implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action is essential to achieving the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration; and resolve to promote gender equality and to eliminate pervasive gender discrimination by:

- ?? Eliminating gender inequalities in primary and secondary education by 2006 and at all educational levels by 2015
- ?? Guaranteeing the rights of women to own and inherit land and property [delete : and inheritance laws] and ensuring secure tenure of property to women
- ?? Ensuring universal access to sexual and reproductive health services and protecting reproductive rights
- ?? Promoting women's equal access to [delete : labour markets,] sustainable employment as well as adequate labour protections
- ?? Ensuring the protection of women in armed conflicts in accordance with the obligations of States under international humanitarian law
- ?? Investing in the environmentally-sound infrastructure necessary to reduce women's and girls' time burdens to access water, wood, fuel and other necessities
- ?? Taking active measures to ensure [delete : Promoting] equal participation of men and women in government decision making bodies and political institutions at all levels; and
- ?? Supporting [delete : direct] actions and providing resources to protect women and the girl child from violence, including by ending impunity, in particular in situations of wars and civil strife and to implement comprehensive national plans;

36. We recognize the importance of gender mainstreaming as a tool for achieving gender equality. To this end, we undertake to actively promote mainstreaming of a gender perspective in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of policies and programmes in all political, economic environmental and social spheres and we further undertake to strengthen the UN system's capabilities in the area of gender, and to elevate the status of and provide resources for women-specific entities in the UN system.

Meeting the special needs of Africa

43. Welcoming the substantial progress Africa has made in recent years in addressing its challenges and realizing its opportunities, and also the recent decisions taken by African partners, including the G8 and the European Union, in support of Africa's development efforts, we reaffirm our commitment to urgently meet the special needs of Africa, which is the only continent not on track to meet any of the goals of the Millennium Declaration by 2015, to enable it to enter the mainstream of the world economy, we resolve to:

- Support all efforts to achieve gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls in Africa, including through the implementation of the Dakar and Beijing Platforms of Action, which is essential to the achievement of internationally agreed development goals;

• Provide, as a priority, assistance for HIV/AIDS prevention, care and treatment in African countries on a grant basis, taking into account the specific concerns, needs and leadership of African women and girls, and to encourage pharmaceutical companies to make anti-retroviral drugs affordable and accessible in Africa and ensure increased support for bilateral and multilateral assistance to combat malaria, tuberculosis and other infectious diseases in Africa

III. Peace and collective security

Role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts

55. We stress the important role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts and in peacebuilding. We also underline the importance of the integration of gender perspective and women's equal participation and full involvement in all efforts to maintain and promote peace and security, as well as the need to increase their role in decision-making at all levels. We strongly condemn all violations of human rights of women and girls in situations of armed conflicts and the use of sexual and other forms of exploitations, and violence and abuse, and commit to elaborating and implementing strategies to prevent and report on gender-base violence.

Peacebuilding

65 B. Additional members, invited to participate when the PBC discusses a country-specific matter, namely:

- i. national authorities of the country under consideration, as appropriate;
- ii. countries in the region as well as relevant regional and sub-regional organizations;
- iii. the major financial and troop contributors involved in the recovery effort;
- iv. the senior UN representative in the field, and other relevant UN-representatives;
- v. regional financial institutions as may be relevant;
- vi. civil society organizations involved in the recovery and development effort;
- vii. other parties directly relevant for the country under consideration.

69. We request the President of the General Assembly, assisted by the Secretary-General, to conduct consultations with Member States and civil society organizations, and in particular, women's organizations, in order to develop the necessary modalities for the effective operation of the Peacebuilding Commission including its rules of procedure, financial arrangements for its functioning, and selection of the Chairs, so that the body can begin operations no later than 31 December 2005.

IV. Human rights and rule of law

Human Rights

104. We recognize the need for special attention to human rights of women and children and undertake to advance them in every possible way, including by bringing [move : gender and] child protection, youth and gender perspectives in the human rights agenda.

Rule of law

108. Recognizing the need for universal adherence to and implementation of the rule of law at both the national and international levels, we:

- Call upon States to continue their efforts to repeal laws and eradicate policies and practices that discriminate against women and to adopt laws and promote practices that protect the rights of women and promote gender equality

V. Strengthening the United Nations

Regional organizations

152 We support a stronger relationship between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations pursuant to Chapter VIII of the Charter as well as in all [delete: the] areas of human rights, especially economic and social rights [move: human rights], and therefore resolve to:

- Strengthen cooperation in all [delete : the] areas of human rights, especially economic and social rights and [move : human rights]

OR

152 We support a stronger relationship between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations pursuant to Chapter VIII of the Charter as well as in the areas of economic and social affairs and human rights, and therefore resolve to:

- Strengthen cooperation in the areas of economic and social affairs and human rights.

Participation of non-governmental organizations, civil society and the private sector

154 We welcome the [delete : positive] contribution of non-governmental organizations, civil society and the private sector in the promotion and implementation of development, security and human rights mechanisms and programmes, and stress the importance of their continued engagement with Governments, the United Nations, in particular through enhanced interaction with and access to General Assembly and Security Council deliberations and decision-making, and other international organizations in these key areas.

[Move to a separate paragraph : Encourage responsible business practices such as those promoted by the United Nations Fund for International Partnerships and the Global Compact initiatives in order to ensure private sector's contributions to the MDGs].
